Some men simply put their money into any old kind of advertising and trust to luck for the rest. That's gambling. Others make a reasonable appropriation and then buy the kind of advertising best suited to their needs. That's business—Michigan Tradesman.

[Associated Press Special Cable.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 8.—Rear Admiral George W. Sumner of the South Atlantic Station has been ordered to Valparaiso, where a serious condition exists as a result of the Socialist disturbances. Sumner's fleet of ships will consist of the cruisers New York, Detroit, Montgomery and the converted yacht Gloucester.

Named Manila Archbishop

ROME, Italy, June 8.—Father Harlin of St. Louis has been named by the Pope as Archbishop of Manila. This post was recently declined by Bishop Montgomery of San Francisco.

SENATE MUST HAVE SOME MORE MONEY

It has turned out by actual calculation that the Senate has found the need of more money if it would pay officers and pay other expenses that come up daily. The Senate does not like to admit the need but the matter is well known now and it probably will not be very long before the House will be treated with a bill asking for all the way from two to three thousand dollars more for the completion of the work of the present extra session.

Naturally, this is not a very happy state of affairs for the Senate, since that body has posed as the model after which the House should pattern its every move. To have to come down from an elevated perch to the level of asking the House for more money to carry on its work, is the cause of much chagrin among some of the members of the Senate.

However, the thing will have to be done in order that the Senate may pay all its debts.

COUNTY ACT FIGHT CONTINUES IN JUDGE GEAR'S COURT. LEGISLATIVE WITNESSES.

The judicial track was cleared for the jolting progress of the County Act case in Judge Gear's court this morning, minor cases set for hearing being postponed until Wednesday.

Senate and House journals were not in court and had to be sent for. In the meanwhile, Attorney General Andrews got in some argument, citing numerous decisions bearing on the extreme care essential in the Court's consideration of the constitutionality of law, saying that the overruling of a law was unjustifiable unless constitutional violation was absolutely clear. Courts of many States and Territories had held that even where an Act of the Legislature was doubtful as to its constitutionality it was the duty of the courts to uphold that Act, only declaring it invalid when such a decision was unavoidable. Concerning the County Act, no doubt the contents of this Act could have been the subjects of varied and different legislative acts, but nothing could be found therein that was not generally included in the title of the Act.

Various Territorial and County charges were differentiated in the Act, but Territorial charges were only referred to in such a way as to make clear the charges under county government. To declare an Act unconstitutional and void was the exercise of the highest powers of the court and such declaration should be avoided unless it was clear, justifiable and unavoidable.

Nothing had been called to the attention of the Court, according to Mr. Andrews, which could have been smuggled into the County Act. The Territorial Board of Public Institutions was clearly referred to in the title of the bill. Every presumption was in favor of the constitutionality of an Act. The Court should hesitate to act against the bill without the clearest possible right and it should be remembered that the title of the bill was not obliged to refer to each individual variation in the matter of contents as long as it generally covered matter therein.

The validity of the Board of Public Institutions had been attacked and Mr. McClanahan, continued the Attorney General, had interpreted a portion of Section 8 of the Organic Act as providing for the appointment of all boards of a public character by the Governor, even to the appointment of a Board of Supervisors. This, said Andrews, would make of the Governor an absolute ruler and there could be no election of public officers except for the Territorial Legislature. The speaker went on to make a difference between ordinary public boards, such as the forestry and pharmacy boards, and a body such as the Board of Public Institutions, saying that the latter was merely made up of officials of various Government departments co-operating

Theodore Cooper IS BLINDFOLDED Gagged and Bound

Theodore, the thirteen-year-old son of Henry E. Cooper, was blindfolded, gagged, bound hand and foot and thrown into a closet in his own home this morning between 8 and 9 o'clock, and that too with his brother Alfred, a young man about seventeen years of age, in a room upstairs. The dastardly job was done by two men, whom the lad says he believes to be Porto Ricans. Police headquarters were notified at about 12 noon and Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth went out to investigate. Absolutely nothing was taken, the men very probably having been surprised by the sudden appearance of the boy on the scene.

The story learned by Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth is as follows: Alfred Cooper arrived home from the Peninsula a little after 5 o'clock and Theodore followed about fifteen minutes later on. The latter went into the library to put on his shoes and was in the act of doing this when he felt a couple of hands go around his face and close over his mouth. Another pair of hands grasped the boy's arms and then the work began in earnest. The shoes were taken and used to blind the lad's eyes. Paper was stuffed in his mouth and a handkerchief used to hold it in place. Theodore was then taken and thrown into a closet.

Between 11 and 12 o'clock, one of the servants, passing through the library, heard the boy trying to attract the attention of some one. He was released and then the police were sent for. It is thought that the men went into the house early, knowing the Cooper family to be at the Peninsula. They had no expected anyone to return so early and must have been about ready to start operation when Theodore put in an appearance. They evidently tied him up in order to be able to make good their escape.

HOUSE.
Extra Session.

Thirty-third Day.
It was not until 10:25 o'clock that the House was called to order this morning, the clerk having been called to the Circuit Court in connection with the County Bill case. At the time mentioned, Vice-Speaker Knudsen called the House to order, Stenographer Thielens reading the minutes. Mr. Paale arose to contend that no one but the clerk had a right to read the minutes. He was ruled out of order and just about this time, Clerk Maheula walked in the door.

Money for Band.
Mr. Kealawa introduced a resolution to the effect that $5000 be inserted in one of the appropriation bills for the traveling expenses of the Territorial band. Referred to the Military Committee.

Mr. Kuphea presented a petition from forty-six voters of the Fifth Representative District to have $400 inserted in the Appropriation Bill to pay J. K. Maunakea for services rendered under a commission from J. H. Boyd, former Superintendent of Public Works, on the Kunaiala spring; also $500 to cover care of said spring for the coming biennial period. Referred to Public Expenditures Committee.

For a New Janitor.
Mr. Chillingworth, under unfinished business, arose to place in nomination the name of young Kellias as janitor of the House. He stated that the hand of death had dealt very heavily with the Kellias family. Not many days ago, a son had died and on Friday the father had passed away. As a mark of respect and a proper showing of sympathy, it was fitting that the son should be appointed.

Mr. Wright nominated Kallimal, name of young Pulaa, saying that the outside districts should be represented. The dead janitor had held the position for both the regular and extra sessions and that was certainly enough for the Kellias family.

Mr. Wright nominated Kallimal, saying that the other two nominees were boys and inasmuch as there were already enough boys in the House, it would be well to appoint someone of mature years. There was, however, no second to this motion and the name was not included in the list.

Floods Render 8000 Homeless

[Associated Press Special Cable.]

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 8.—Six eastside cities are inundated by the rising waters of the Mississippi. Eight thousand persons have been driven from their homes and are seeking shelter in the higher levels. Seven hundred persons have been rescued. Twenty are known to have been drowned. Owing to the threatening condition of the river for some days, a good number of residents on the low levels made preparations to leave their homes and for this reason it is hoped that the death list will be comparatively small. The damage to property, however, will reach high figures.

WILL CONSIDER OTHER APPLICANTS

Applications from the Hawaiian Agricultural Society for forest and cane lands were considered at the meeting of the Executive Council this forenoon. Four hundred and fifty acres at an elevation of 3,000 feet is desired for cane. The privilege of fencing and preserving a portion of forest land is asked for a consideration. Final action has not been taken in either matter.

The question of the appointment of a successor to Superintendent of Public Works Cooper was referred to the Governor said he did not want to confine his choice necessarily to men who have already applied and was ready to receive other applications. The matter of a judge for the Torrens land act was discussed and the names of Bonale Monsarrat and Deputy Attorney General Weaver were mentioned in this connection.

Light wine and beer licenses were refused Manuel Borges for Kamehameha IV road, being within two miles of the nearest saloon, the Fountain; and O. N. Clark, for Camarinos' old store on Alakea and King streets, being within the district prohibited. Land Commissioner Boyd had one or two other matters before the council.

"A NEW METHOD"

In the Police Court this morning Attorney Furtado created considerable consternation by what the Court termed "a new method of practice." He was defending Manuel Souza, charged with heedless driving, and after putting on the stand a witness for the defense and examining him, made a motion for the discharge of his client.

Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth, for the prosecution, made his little spiel. Judge Wilcox stated that he found the defendant guilty and fined him $10 and costs. Furtado then made his novel departure.

IRMGARD ANCHORED OUTSIDE.

The barkentine Irmgard arrived from San Francisco this forenoon and anchored off port at about 10 o'clock. The Irmgard was called for in a hurry as there was sugar waiting for her here. She consequently came down in ballast, which she is discharging outside.

He stated that the motion had only been a preliminary motion and wanted to put on still another witness. The Court, however, declined to accept his method and the fine remained unchanged.
